

You're starting to see parents stand up to school boards. Back in April of 2019 we wrote, "Saving Education From Socialism K-12. First step is to identify the threat." <https://www.thes2project.com/storage/14/Saving-Education-From-Socialism-K-12.pdf>

The way things in America should operate is with the attitude, - You're The Boss of Everything and you should be talking with a few neighbors who are The Boss of Everything Else. Getting together to make government your employees once again.

When you do meet with your fellow bosses on your block, the main questions are;

*How many Patriots do you know?

*What are their names & phone numbers?

*Can we call these Patriots together?

*When can we do that?

Now you need something to say to them when you get them on the horn, right? So you say something like this---

"We're getting together to be the bosses and make government our employees again. Are you up for that? (Yes? Great.) How many Patriots do you know? What are their names & phone numbers?

Can we call these Patriots together? When can we do that?" Now you need something at this next friendly meeting to say to them when you're calling this new list of contacts, right? So you say something like this--- "We're getting together to be the bosses and"

You do not have to be an expert at anything except simple repetition. Oh, BTW, congratulations. You just learned how to recruit an army of American Patriots.
