

John Johnson Twitter post 6/28/19

I know this post will piss some of you off, but I truly don't care. I believe that this needs to be addressed and it applies to both sides of the aisle, not just one political party, but all politicians. If you don't like what I have to say, and you feel triggered, go ahead and unfriend me. Won't matter to me either way. All these so called politicians need to remember that they are public servants and that their responsibilities are to SERVE and PROTECT the AMERICAN people not illegal immigrants, or anyone else.

Illegal immigrants are called illegal because they are breaking the law by being in the US without authorization. Technically, they are criminals. They are lucky that the US is not other countries that would shoot to kill if they were caught trying to cross the border but just because they can cross the border in one piece does not make it right for them to break our laws. Our immigration system works. It just takes time to do it the right way.

For those of you that are going to cry about the conditions at the border, if you feel bad about it, get off your ass and do something. Donate money, resources, or volunteer your time to make conditions better. Don't just bitch about it and then continue to act hypocritical.

All of these politicians that violate their oaths of office with their plans to subvert and disassemble The Constitution of the United States are, or should be considered enemies of the state and should be treated as such. They are the ones the FBI should be investigating.

Those that wish to remove and restrict the 2nd amendment are the ones you should really look out for. The 2nd amendment is what protects the American people from the government, would be dictators, and other idiots that would run roughshod over the people and rule them with an iron fist. For those that will argue and say "what about our children?" Don't give up your rights because of a sudden morality complex. Death is a part of life. It is unfortunate that terrorists target our young and innocent, but everyone will die at some point, either through natural causes, accident or violence. Be it sitting at home, walking down the street, in a war zone, or at school, when it is your time, it is your time.
